

Marines win battle of Con Thien; enemy pulls back into North Viet

SAIGON UPI — U.S. Marines have won the battle of Con Thien and there is "every indication" that Communist troops massed in the Demilitarized Zone are pulling back across the border into North Vietnam, military sources said today.

The sources said that aerial reconnaissance photographs showed that North Vietnamese troops have abandoned gun emplacements below the Ben Hai River in the southern half of the DMZ.

"It looks as if we broke their back this time," the source said.

For weeks American warplanes, ships and artillery have hammered the area with what Gen. William C. Westmoreland called the heaviest concentration of conventional firepower on a "single piece of real estate" in the history of war.

The massive bombardments were to knock out the Communist guns that had been shelling the Leatherneck Con Thien outpost below the DMZ with 500 to 1,000 artillery, rocket and mortar shells for more than a month.

The intense Communist shelling was believed an attempt to knock out Con

Thien to pave the way for an invasion thrust by 35,000 North Vietnamese troops reported massed in the area.

Dovetailed with the intense bombardments in the DMZ, American warplanes stepped up attacks over North Vietnam in a determined effort to choke off war supplies moving southward.

Dive bombers have in the past week virtually sealed off the vital port of Haiphong, knocking out bridges, railroad lines and highways to prevent supplies from moving off the docks.

And a spokesman said today that warplanes diving through heavy antiaircraft and missile fire bombed three previously untouched targets just seconds flying time from the Red China border. They hit two bridges and a rail yard as part of the campaign to cut Peking-supplied war goods for the Hanoi fighting machine.

The source cited three reasons for the North Vietnamese retreat from the DMZ, and said all were probably factors in the decision to withdraw:

— The Communist problem of supplying ammunition for batteries of mortars, rockets and artillery in the DMZ — particularly in the southern half — became too great with the flooding of the Ben Hai River;

— The pounding they took from American firepower made the results "unprofitable";

— They may have decided to try something else, we don't know," the source said.

More than 300 Marines were killed and some 3,000 were wounded during the siege.

Last week, during the height of the Communist barrage, about 1,000 shells fell on Marine positions. During the entire siege, the Communists hammered Con Thien with a daily average of 515 shells, the source said.

Radio Hanoi said seven U.S. planes were downed during the day, one of them in a dogfight with a MIG jet interceptor over Hanoi. U.S. military headquarters did not announce the loss of any planes. Such reports usually are delayed for 24 hours in case there is a chance to rescue the pilot.

Touch of grace

DALLAS UPI—A pastor, given a pie by a woman parishioner, said he found it "almost inedible." His wife threw it in the garbage.

The minister, troubled about how to thank the woman and be truthful at the same time, finally wrote her:

"I can assure you that pie like that doesn't last very long at our house."

Police academy site deadline October 18

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—A deadline of Oct. 18 was announced today for communities seeking to be chosen as site for Indiana's proposed new multi-million dollar law enforcement training academy.

At present the Indiana Law Enforcement Training Board has 12 proposals under consideration. Franklin College president Dr. Wesley N. Haines, chairman of the site committee, said more proposals are wanted but a "letter of intent" must be received by Oct. 18.

He said the letter of intent is sufficient for the present and a formal proposal may be made after Oct. 18 if the advisory letter is on file.

Meeting held by Putnam realtors

The Putnam County Board of Realtors held a dinner meeting at the Campus Double Decker Monday evening. The president, Bill Jackson, presided.

Charles Shuee was chairman of the entertainment committee for the October session.

An excellent report on the state convention was given by Lois Allee, Kay Braden and Dorothy Foster. All three attended the convention which was held at the New Stauffer's Inn, in Indianapolis, last weekend.

They report the convention was a great success with approximately 700 in attendance.

Present at Monday's meeting were Sherm McKee, Gordon Sayers, Averil and Blanchard Ketchum, John King, Naomi Boesen, Jim Ross, Kay Braden, Dorothy Foster, Lois Allee, Charles Shuee and Bill Jackson.

Here are the 12 proposals already under consideration:

On state property at the Indiana Reformatory at Pendleton, at Lieber State Park near Cloverdale, at the Indiana Boys' School at Plainfield and at Mounds State Park near Anderson.

In the deactivated Naval Armory at Michigan City, a proposal which would involve making a deal with the federal government.

Private land, mainly suggested by local chambers of commerce, and on which discussions are underway about making a gift of the land to the state if the site is selected, in Boone County including 40 acres from the Louis Switzer estate; several sites in Johnson County; five sites in Morgan County and other privately owned land near Bloomington, at Beech Grove and at Greenfield.

A proposal to sell property at $1,500 an acre from an Indianapolis real estate firm.

UAW to ship war parts

DETROIT UPI — The United Auto Workers agreed today to a limited break in its strike against Ford Motor Co. to comply with an "urgent" request from the Pentagon for vital parts needed for the war in Vietnam.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the union would provide work crews to enter some strikebound factories and ship the needed parts, which already have been produced but could not be shipped because of the nationwide strike, now in its 28th day.

"We will work out crews to get those parts out of supply depots," Reuther said.

GHS homecoming set for Friday

The 1967 Homecoming festivities for Greencastle High School will kick off at 5:00 p.m. Friday with a colorful parade featuring the four beautiful queen candidates, class princesses and their courts, decorated class floats, the high-stepping Greencastle High School Band, and varsity cheerleaders marching to the beat of the cadence.

The parade will start at the high school building and head west on Washington Street to Jackson Street, along Jackson and around the courthouse, proceeding east on Franklin and Arlington Streets and then returning to the high school.

The highlight of the celebration will be the long-awaited crowning of the Homecoming Queen during the halftime show of the Tiger Cub-West Vigo football game.

The halftime ceremonies are planned as a salute to the queen and will feature the marching Tiger Cub band and a grand review of the class floats.

Following the football game the G-Club will sponsor a sock hop in honor of the queen and her court. The prizes for the winning float will be announced at the dance with first and second prizes being donated by the Pep Club.

The Homecoming is sponsored by the G-Club and Pep Club of the high school.

SCHOOL PRESENTED BOOK—The Greencastle Kiwanis Club has presented a book, "God in American History" to the Greencastle High School library. Darrell Gooch, Kiwanis president, here presents the book to principal Norman Mc-

Cammon and school librarian Thelma Stout. The book is a documentation of America's religious heritage, and every Kiwanis club in Indiana seeks to place at least one book in a high school library during 1967.

Rio Grande Valley spared by Fern

TAMPICO, Mexico UPI—Hurricane Fern, steadily losing her fury, whacked into the northern Mexico Gulf Coast today, missing by 200 miles the Rio Grande Valley devastated by hurricane Beulah two weeks ago.

The Weather Bureau said Fern was losing her strength as she hit land.

Unleashing tons of rain, Fern flooded large areas of Tampico, sending perhaps a fourth of the city's 100,000 residents fleeing. The storm sliced through marshy lowlands 30 miles north of Tampico and 200 miles south of Brownsville, Tex. and Matamoros, Mexico.

The hurricane was breaking up as quickly as it formed last Sunday and the New Orleans Weather Bureau said it would keep losing its punch.

Fern carried winds of 75 miles an hour—barely strong enough to be called a hurricane.

Tampico, one of the most frequently flooded cities in the world, braced for more water. But officials said the city appeared safe from disaster.

Winds had already hit 50 miles an hour Tuesday night. Heavy rain fell all night and Fern's gales bent over palm trees. The storm caught the city already flooded from a week of rain on the Panuco River watershed.

More than 25,000 persons left their homes Monday and Tuesday for refugee shelters on high ground, an army spokesman said. Another 15,000 already had jumped into schools and other public buildings.

Fern was expected to set off deluges of rain from Tampico to the mouth of the Soto la Marina River and west to the eastern Sierra Madres at least through tonight.

Rain fell through the night in Brownsville but the Weather Bureau expected no heavy rains. That took some pressure off the Rio Grande Valley, much of it a flooded ruin from Beulah's fury.

Senator Dirksen upholds Johnson's Vietnam policy

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON UPI—A deep split over Vietnam policy has opened in Senate Republican ranks with GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen scolding members of his own party for criticizing President Johnson, a Democrat.

Dirksen dramatized the split Tuesday in a desk-thumping Senate speech during which he called down fellow Republicans for "demeaning" the President in the eyes of the world and scornfully rejected calls for a letup in the war.

The Republican leader's special target plainly was Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who has spearheaded the growing peace movement among Senate Republicans.

In a reference to Morton's charge last week that Johnson had been "brainwashed" since 1961 into seeking a military solution in Vietnam, Dirksen chided:

"I'd hate to have heard that said about President Eisenhower. 'It don't sound good and it don't look good. Have you heard the British demean their king or queen? If you have, show me the time. You don't demean the ruler—the President is not our ruler—but you don't demean him in the eyes of people abroad. I don't mean to do that.'"

Morton, a former Republican national chairman who served as an assistant secretary of state from 1953 to 1956, shrugged off Dirksen's criticisms today. "I've been in disagreement before with my beloved leader," he told UPI, "and it has not affected my friendship or loyalty to him."

He gave no indication his stand on Vietnam, however.

Dirksen's speech was a booming defense of Johnson's Vietnam policies. He insisted that South Vietnam was part of America's "outer defense perimeter" and vital to the nation's security.

"There is no holding line between Saigon and Singapore," he shouted. "When they speak about the fall of Southeast Asia, they're not kidding."

Fire damages autos

City firemen made two runs Tuesday afternoon when fire developed in two automobiles.

At 3:35 p. m., the firemen were called to Seminary Street and College Avenue due to a short in the wiring of a car owned by Carl Polster.

At 4:50 p. m., the firemen went to the corner of Walnut and Gillespie Streets, after the carburetor backfired in Harold Inman's automobile.

Damage was estimated at $50 to each car.

Two men before Hamilton Tuesday

Richard Aaron Cobb, 21, Indianapolis, who escaped from the Indiana State Farm nearly two years ago and stole an automobile belonging to Hubert Sellar, was in the Putnam Circuit Court Tuesday.

Judge Francis N. Hamilton sentenced Cobb to serve 1-10 years in the State Reformatory at Pendleton.

The sentence was suspended and the defendant placed on strict probation. He will not have a driver's license for two years and he was disfranchised for a period of five years.

Larry Burris, 27, Sullivan, pleaded guilty to non-support of minor children. Since his arrearage in payments has been paid up, a pre-sentence investigation was ordered and his cause continued generally.

However, if he fails to make one future payment a 1-7 year sentence awaits him.

Accident occurs here

City police reported this morning that a 1949 Chevrolet pickup driven by Don Chavis, 75, 1037 Avenue E, and a parked 1963 Ford belonging to Marvin Baldwin, Greencastle, Route 5, were involved in an accident at Seminary and Arlington Streets at 7:15 Tuesday evening.

Officers Russell Rogers' report said Danny Buchanan, 12, 1002 Avenue E, suffered cuts on his left eye and lips.

Damage was estimated at $250 to the truck and $150 to the automobile.

Bus wrecks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. UPI—A school bus loaded with mentally retarded children collided with a dump truck and overturned at a city intersection today, injuring 34 children.

The driver of the truck was injured slightly and a female passenger in the bus was in serious condition with leg injuries.

Eight ambulances shuttled the terrified children, none of them seriously hurt, to three area hospitals. Only one child was admitted.

Ceramics by Peeler now on display

A one-man ceramics show featuring works by Professor Richard Peeler opened Sunday at Indiana Central College in Indianapolis.

The exhibition in the Leah Ransburg Gallery is composed of 96 pieces completed this summer by the DePauw art professor. Most of the pieces were fired in a wood-burning kiln located at Peeler's home.

Another Peeler piece of ceramics is circulating in a traveling exhibition through Michigan and Ohio. Comprised of works by a number of outstanding craftsmen, the show will be seen at Western Michigan University, Bowling Green, Ohio State and Wittenberg.

Peeler has been a member of the DePauw art department since 1958. He is a 1949 graduate of DePauw.

Hints from Heloise

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Tell the gals not to throw away those odd or worn white cotton gloves. I've found a new use for them.

They are just dandy to use when setting your table which is appointed with a lot of silver. Namely, silver trays, hollowware and silver-plated goblets.

There's nothing that makes me madder than to set the table a day ahead of time for a big dinner party—so I can spend that entire day preparing the food—and then find fingerprints all over my silver. Here's where the white gloves come in.

Put them on and then set your table. You won't want a single fingerprint on your beautiful silver.

Dorothy McConnell

Dear Heloise:

I think you took a stab at something and won!

Another good idea is to go ahead and set the table even TWO days ahead of time, if necessary, and cover the entire caboodle with a big sheet of plastic. These plastic sheets can be bought for about 50 cents. And you can use them nineteen other places after the party.

For those of you who do not have the plastic and do not want to purchase it, set a heavy vase on each end of the table and have your husband help you gently lay a sheet over it. It works, too.

And while we are on this topic of giving the annual dinner party, try using a folded bed sheet for a liner under your nice linen dinner cloth. It makes for a much more beautiful table.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I was plagued with lack of humidity in the house last winter.

I found one thing that helps—having a few extra potted plants around.

Marge Shaffer

You're marvelous, Marge! Naturally, the plants have to be watered, which adds humidity to the air, and you have the added beauty of the plants... instead of plain ole containers of water.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This is a suggestion for mothers who have small children that ride the bus to school. Please supply the little ones with a shopping bag with handles. They always end up ripping paper bags open and dropping them because there's nothing there to hang onto! And how much easier it would be for them to carry their assorted "junk"!

Sure would save lots of spills! Lady Bus Driver

Dear Heloise:

Here is a good planting hint. September and October are planting months for Iris flower bulbs and other types. Plant half of them on the east side and half on the south side of the house. The ones on the south side will bloom earlier.

You will have Iris almost twice as long when planting all bulbs on the same side of your house. The little difference in amount of sunlight and temperature is what does the trick.

A. T.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I have taught my children to hang all the hangers in one direction in case of fire. This way they can be scooped off the rack very quickly.

But lately I'm so far behind in my ironing, I've taught them to grab the ironing basket instead, because nearly all the hangers are empty.

Mrs. Ralph Cannon

Dear Heloise:

On my husband's work pants, I clip the stitching that holds the cuffs to the pants legs. Then sew on big snaps instead.

Before washing them, I just unsnap and clean out the dirt that has collected. Then snap them back again before throwing the pants in the washing machine. This makes cleaning

Letters to the editor

Letter To The Editor:

It certainly does not put one in a popular position in this day and age if you speak up for that in which you believe, but contrary to claims of proponents, many reputable scientific organizations and individuals oppose fluoridation.

If anyone promoting fluoridation from the medical or dental profession or from the public health department would agree to an open public debate with a well qualified person who has studied fluoridation and who opposes it strongly, I am sure it could be arranged. That way the citizens of Putnam County who use city water could really be informed.

Maybe our water does contain a small portion of natural fluoride, but the fluoride to be added to our water is sodium fluoride and is a toxic poison. It is not a mineral nutrient but a drug and an aluminum waste product. Anyone interested can visit the treatment plant for Brazil's city water and read the signs: "Warning—do not inhale dust and do not put in feed or foodstuffs." Yet, they are putting the same poison in the drinking water. True, people take drugs containing poisons through doctor's prescriptions. By putting fluoride in our water, the poison we would be getting would certainly not be under a doctor's prescription.

Dental decay is not a contagious or waterborne disease. It cannot be deduced that dental caries is a disease caused by fluoride deficiency. A main cause is defective nutrition and mineralization of teeth as well as undue consumption of refined carbohydrates, sugar and sticky sweets.

There is clinical proof that lung cancer is connected to cigarette smoking and yet doctors are not concerned with passing laws to prevent us from making our own choice as to whether to smoke or not. On the other hand, I am sure that no one has died from tooth decay and yet the proponents are in favor of forcing us to drink fluoridated water. This is against our American way of life.

Many drugs that were presumed to be safe and even enjoyed widespread popularity have later been found to be extremely toxic. The effects of thalidomide is probably one of the most widely publicized. This drug was approved for clinical trials and had been "tested" for a number of years in the U.S. . . . ultimately by over 1,200 physicians . . . without the appearance of a single serious side effect before its alarming crippling effects became evident . . . and then only from observations reported by physicians from Europe.

Citizens in another city of Indiana, in asking dentists and doctors if any of them would give them a written guarantee that drinking fluoridated water would be harmless, were given this reply, "We would have to know each person's physical make-up." Yet, they insist that they are still in favor of putting it in drinking water with no way to check each person's physical make-up or no way of controlling how much fluoride each person will be obtaining. Here are some quotes:

Law Dept., American Medical Association 9/7/61—"The American Medical Association does not engage in the approval, endorsement, guarantee or acceptance of unfluoridated water or fluoridated water."

Dr. Charles Gordon Heyd (M.D.), Past President American Medical Association—"I am appalled at the prospect of using water as a vehicle for drugs. Fluoride is a corrosive poison that will produce serious effects on a long range basis. Any attempt to use water this way is deplorable."

Dr. A. G. Blazey, National Legislation Chairman of the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons—"The assinine of fluoridating entire water supplies in a mass-medication maneuver when only half of one per cent is inhibited, is self-evident. Scientifically controlled dosage is utterly impossible via fluoridated drinking water because a wide variation of water is consumed daily by different individuals."

Fluoridation completely disregards the right of the individual to choose for himself what he will do for himself or his children. After studying this subject for at least 15 years, I for one, as a user of city water, do not intend to use fluoridated water for drinking or cooking, even if it is forced on those of us who oppose.

Marjorie B. Birt

DEAR ED:

A traffic and parking proposal for downtown Greencastle: To start no parking on Washington St. from Bloomington St. to Indiana St. and eventually Jackson St., with the exception of the Courthouse side of Washington St. It will consist of three lanes, the center lane being a left turn lane from Bloomington to Jackson St. with the exception of the time between 3:30 and 5:00 p.m. At that time there will be two lanes of west bound traffic from Bloomington to Jackson St. which will be controlled by a switch in the police station to a special signal light at each intersection consisting of two lights, one indicating lane open for left turn on both sides of light and the other light indicating the middle lane as west-bound through traffic and on the other side of it a red light. In other words, no left turn from 3:30-5:00 p.m.

Along these lines there could be a switch at the fire station putting all lights on red until trucks have cleared the lights. To go along with the advanced traffic proposal the Greencastle Development Corp. has furnished two well located parking lots, one in operation and the other inexcusably not. The second should be completed now and a concrete parking garage also erected on both lots with two floors and designed for more, to be added, not only supplying present but considering into the future as the city grows and some lost business returns.

Another suggestion: Let the customers shop in a shopping center atmosphere with sidewalk covering for all of the downtown area contracted by the city, but each merchant paying his own share according to footage used. So, in short, with a little concrete, a little steel and a little planning, Greencastle can become a modern city overnight, with driving and shopping safety and comfort. The state will pay all of the street planning and changing, the merchants pay their share on the porches. So all the city needs to do is erect the parking garages. Where there is a will there is a way.

Let's get out of the horse and buggy days and press forward!

In lieu of some recent events and due to Greencastle's lack of recreation (social and physical) for our present generation, kids go out and do all sorts of things for kicks. In most cases it results in destroying or stealing other people's property. And in a lot of cases severe criminal acts are committed. But what the average child doesn't stop to realize is, if they get caught the court can only look at it as criminal intent, although it was just another way to let off frustrations of having everything handed down to them on a silver platter, nobody to teach them right from wrong, too much free time and no place to spend it, not enough love and attention at home, etc. I would like to suggest to the courts, although a criminal act has been committed, before it is treated as such, make sure there was criminal intent before exposing a child as a criminal.

I would like to suggest to the kids who get these crazy ideas to think twice before you jump, because if you are doing it to please a friend or impress a crowd and they encourage it, they are not your friends, they are just playing you for a sucker. So is it worth ruining your life for a few laughs? The same applies to smoking and drinking also.

Auto makers front weakens

DETROIT UPI — The big three auto makers' solid front against the United Auto Workers appeared to be weakening today as Chrysler Corp. stepped up its October production of 1968 models while Ford Motor Co. remained struck for the 28th day.

Chrysler plans to build a record 155,000 cars this month, up 26 per cent from October 1966. General Motors Corp., while holding to its original production schedule for the month, reportedly was considering increases in production.

Before the strike against Ford began Sept. 6, all three auto companies said they would hold to their original production schedules and not take advantage of a strike against one company.

Chrysler Tuesday reported its September sales were 14 per cent above those of the same month last year. Similar high sales reports were made by Ford and GM.

Ford's sales for the last 10 days of September were the third highest in history for the period. Ford dealers introduced their 1968 models Sept. 22.

More than two hours of negotiations at Ford Tuesday produced the usual progress report: none.

FLOODS HIT ITALY

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON UPI—Theoretically, you could be fined $100 and sent to jail for six months for refusing to tell the U. S. Census Bureau in 1970 whether you share your shower.

Now I realize that one of the suggested slogans for National Brotherhood week is "Take a shower with a friend." And I certainly don't want to make it appear that I am knocking togetherness.

Nevertheless, I am inclined to go along with Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, in his complaint that some of the items in the sample questionnaire for the 1970 census could be embarrassing.

Among the questions Betts criticized was H19, which asks: "Do you have a bathtub or shower?" There are three possible answers, including "yes, but shared with another household."

You can easily see how that answer might be embarrassing. Particularly if the other household had its own shower.

Pointing out in a press release that fines and jail sentences may be imposed on persons who refuse to answer census questions, Betts said the proposed 1970 form amounted to an invasion of privacy and governmental harassment.

To this I might add that some of the questions also are difficult if not impossible to answer. Take H2N for example.

It asks: "How do you enter your living quarters?" The alternatives listed are: "a common public hall; through someone else's living quarters." That doesn't begin to cover the ways I might enter my living quarters. At least after midnight.

To be complete, the questionnaire should include: take off shoes and sneak in back door; softly open kitchen window if back door is locked; if window is locked, climb down chimney.

Shopping Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON UPI—Weekend shoppers can make their selections from attractive arrays of meat and poultry and fruits and vegetables.

At fresh produce counters there will be plentiful supplies of cabbage, onions, and potatoes. In some areas, lettuce and tomatoes are also expected to be plentiful.

Apples will be in good supply in most areas and grapes in some areas.

Broiler-fryer chickens are in excellent supply in most areas and so are beef roasts and steaks. Pork plentiful again include bacon and roasts.

Frozen fish fillets and steaks are in good supply in most areas.

Or consider H1: "Is there a telephone on which people who live here can be called?"

I couldn't simply answer that question "yes" or "no," as the questionnaire requires. It depends on whether my two daughters are home.

To me, however, the most shocking inquiry on the sample form is found on page 20. It says: "Please list below all persons who stayed here overnight on Tuesday, April 4, 1967."

In 1970, the date presumably will be advanced.

It so happens that on Tuesday, April 4, 1967, my wife was visiting her mother in Florida. I have already told her I was at home alone, taking a shower.

Is the Census Bureau, through aside insinuation, now attempting to stir up trouble retroactively? If so, the questionnaire is unconstitutional.

It violates the provision against double jeopardy.

It's cold in U.S. Northwest

By United Press International
More winter-like weather is in store for the Pacific Northwest as that area continues to dominate the nation's weather picture.

A rare tornado followed the heaviest winds in five years into Oregon, swirling through Astoria, Ore., and causing widespread but minor damage.

Rain continued to fall in the area with an inch reported at Hoquiam, Wash., during a six-hour period Tuesday. Storm warnings were posted along the coastal area and farther east to the Rockies. Frost threatened in Montana, Utah and Idaho.

In sharp contrast the temperature rose to the 90s in the Central Plains, with a 91 recorded at North Platte, Neb., breaking a 29-year-old record for Oct. 3.

The bodies of three Modesto, Calif., residents were discovered Tuesday more than a mile high in the Sierras south of Callahan, Calif., where a light plane crashed during the storm that struck the Pacific Coast Monday.

Drifts of snow up to 3 feet deep had hampered the search and rescue operations.

A few scattered showers were reported early today in the Rockies, northern New England, over the northern Pacific Coast and southern Texas.

Hollywood News

(By VERNON SCOTT)
HOLLYWOOD UPI — Shades of the Keystone Kops and John Gilbert! Hollywood is filming a silent movie.

Associate producer Frank Worth, who has a hand in the making of "The Silent Treatment," was asked why in the world anyone would make a silent flick almost 40 years after the advent of sound.

"It's cheaper," he quipped. Then he added, "Well, we figure it will be a novelty. It hasn't been done in a long time so it's got to be different." Worth is a different kind of moviemaker himself. Until this season he was the Los Angeles Dodgers' official photographer. The fact that the Dodgers nosedived this year had no bearing on Worth's decision to bail out, he says.

The star of "The Silent Treatment" is Marty Ingles, the comedian who bombed out several seasons back in the television series "I'm Dickens, He's Fenster."

But the supporting players in cameo roles are impressive—Jerry Lewis, Phyllis Diller, Rowan and Martin, Wally Cox, Jackie Coogan, Rudy Vallee, Gene Autry and John Forsythe. "This is a six-figure production," Worth confided. "The figures are Maureen Arthur, Sherry Jackson, Pat Carroll, Rose Marie, Phyllis Diller and the script girl. But we're keeping the budget a secret."

The movie will be projected at 24 frames giving the action the herky-jerky flavor of the old silents. Moreover, the background music will be rickety, piano familiar to oldsters. Not a single line of dialogue will be spoken, but dialogue cards will be flashed on the screen as of old.

"So far Worth and his associates haven't found a distributor to release the epic. "We have about 25 cameo guest stars, including some newsreel footage of President Johnson and Governor Reagan," Worth said. "I even play in a hot air balloon from a neighborhood shopping center."

With Worth's foghorn voice movie-goers can be thankful the picture will be silent.

HIGH FLYER

SAN MATEO, Calif. UPI—Gregory Simms, who says he has had trouble getting his campaign for Congress off the ground, plans to do something about it Thursday.

Simms is scheduled to ascend in a hot air balloon from a neighborhood shopping center.

Jewish New Year starts today

The high holy days, most sacred period of the year for Jews, begin at sundown today with the celebration of Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish new year.

According to the Hebrew calendar, this is the new year of 5728.

Rosh Hashanah ushers in a 10-day period known in Hebrew as "Yamin Nora'im," which can be translated "days of awe" or "days of judgment." It culminates with the observance of Yom Kippur, the "day of atonement."

these are the days when man's fate is decided.

In keeping with Biblical instructions, Rosh Hashanah is observed as "a day of solemn rest" and prayer, strikingly different in mood from the boisterous revelry of secular new year celebrations.

Jewish congregations gather at sundown for the traditional Rosh Hashanah service, which centers on prayer and self-examination.

The service reaches a dramatic climax with the blowing of the shofar, a hollow ram's horn which has served since antiquity as an alarm or summons for the Jewish people. The "trumpets" which Joshua's troops blew during their march around the walls of Jericho were shofars.

The shofar's piercing blast symbolizes the tearing away of the old year and the past through repentance and forgiveness. It also conveys a warning to man to arouse from moral indolence and take more seriously his responsibilities toward God and his fellow man.

Although Rosh Hashanah is essentially a solemn occasion, there is an underlying joyousness in the songs and poetry which accompany the occasion. The wish for a "sweet" year of happiness at the evening meal when families dip pieces of bread or apple into bowls of honey.

Orthodox and conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashanah for two days, most reform Jews for one day.

SOUND ALARM
LUTON, England UPI — Charles Cane was sentenced to one month in jail for stealing an alarm clock from a local department store. He was arrested when the alarm went off while the clock was in his pocket.

Dr. Fuson reports on new drug

Dr. Robert Fuson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Fuson of Greencastle and a Duke University researcher, reported in Chicago this week regarding a drug that may profoundly affect the U.S. health picture has been found useful in the treatment of atherosclerosis, a major killer and crippler.

Dr. Fuson said yesterday that a powdered plastic known chemically as cholestyramine offers the possibility of lowering cholesterol levels.

Atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, is a kind of biological rusting of the blood vessels. Its end result can be a heart attack, stroke or limb loss by gangrene.

The disease is believed to be caused by a dangerous combination of factors such as high cholesterol or fat level, high blood pressure, obesity, over-eating, heavy smoking, stress and heredity.

It is in the reduction of cholesterol, the fatty material which causes the clogging of the blood vessels, that cholestyramine has been found useful, said Dr. Robert Fuson, a surgery resident at Duke who has been using the drug successfully on himself for three years.

He told the annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons that cholestyramine combines with bile acids in the intestine and causes them to be excreted in the stools rather than reabsorbed as usual.

By interfering with the reabsorption process of bile acids, he said, the body is required to make additional quantities. And since the body normally makes bile acids from cholesterol, the serum cholesterol can be lowered. The process maintains itself as the need for bile acid production continues because of the bile acid excretion.

Meeting Held By Historical Society

The Putnam County Historical Society met Wednesday evening at Torr's Restaurant for a dinner meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ewing and Frank Ashworth were guests.

Mrs. William Boatright, president, announced that Hoosier Land Books are in the archives. The Covered Bridge Society is meeting in Columbia Park, Lafayette on October 1. The 11th annual Parke County Covered Bridge Festival at Rockville will be from October 13-22. A committee was appointed to contact the commissioners to see if the oldest bridge in Indiana might be saved. It is the covered bridge south of Clinton Falls, which was built in 1838.

Mrs. Boatright presented Russell Clapp, a former superintendent of the Indiana Boys' School near Plainfield. This school is now one hundred years old. In 1867 the Indiana Legislature under Governor Oliver P. Morton passed a bill for the need of a house of refuge for boys. Robert Dale Owen and Mr. Coffin of the Friends Society with the governor formed a Board of Control for conducting business of 225 acres. Soon a bake shop and a chapel and three houses were built, and 103 boys were received. They had no academic school at first, but had trade schools such as a shoe factory, a blacksmith shop, a machine shop, and basket weaving, etc. Col. Charleton established an academic school later which went to the tenth grade. Charleton was there 21 years. More boys were received, but these were mostly homeless and not delinquents. The name "Boys Reform School" was changed to "Indiana Boys School" in 1900.

The mode of punishment there has changed considerably since the beginning. In 1935 they adopted a Social Service Department and a counseling system. The ages of boys are from 10-21 years. They are given mental tests, and those under sixteen must attend academic school. They must live in cottages with boys their size or age who have similar IQs. Mr. Clapp went there in 1955 as superintendent after being on the board two years on account of the death of Mr. Sutor who had been there 21 years. Their special education classes start at the fourth grade. There are now 170 persons on the staff and the farm has increased to 1038 acres with 740 under cultivation.

in the stools. In addition to lowering cholesterol levels, the drug's action can also reduce fat absorption, thus reducing other blood fats and permitting many over-weight people to lose weight easier.

Its action, he maintains, is entirely within the gastro-intestinal tract. Chances that it will produce serious side effects, such as the cataracts, liver and possible heart damage produced by earlier drugs intended for this purpose, are slim, he claims.

Dr. Fuson has been taking cholestyramine three times a day before each meal for three years now, longer than any patients. For the past one-and-a-half years his cholesterol level has been below 75, almost the level of a newborn baby that has not been fed any fatty foods. At the start, his own count was 250 milligrams which placed him in the danger bracket.

Two and a half years ago, he began a study on 65 humans, many of them confirmed victims of advanced stages of the disease and its complications. He found that:

- Cholestyramine reduces the cholesterol levels by up to 60 per cent.
- Thirty-two patients out of

Sets record

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. UPI

The X15 rocket ship streaked through the stratosphere Tuesday at 4,534 miles an hour, setting a world speed record for winged aircraft. Scientists predicted the experimental plane will top 5,000 m.p.m. in future tests.

The record speed—nearly seven times that of sound—was made possible by adding 13,500 pounds of anhydrous ammonia and liquid oxygen to the plane's fuel load, giving it an extra 60 seconds of engine-burn time.

The plane consumed more than 15 tons of fuel in two minutes as it roared up to top speed.

"There was no sensation or different feeling," said Air Force Maj. William J. (Pete) Knight, who piloted X15 No. 2 during the brief, 8-minute flight. "It handled very well at full speed."

Knight said he believed the X15 could exceed 5,000 m.p.h. without any radical modification.

"I could have gone faster if we wanted to," he said.

18TH CHANCE FAILS

PORTSMOUTH ENGLAND UPI — Postman George Barrie was back in prison Tuesday after stealing registered letters from the mailbags he handled at work. The judge at his trial was told Barrie, 50, had 18 previous convictions. A Post Office spokesman said the department knew of this record but wanted to give Barrie "another chance."

League looks at the school tax rate

Last week The Daily Banner published the proposed 1968 tax assessment. Indiana requires that local property tax rates, based in this case on the budgets of the county, city (or township), library and schools, be published prior to the meeting of the State Board of Tax Commissioners in the local courthouse. The state tax commissioners annually review the budgets of the local governmental units and either agree to or cut the proposed rates.

The Greencastle League of Women Voters has been studying our schools and consequently the school budget for the past three years. Members thought it appropriate to discuss this budget, which affects the tax rates in Greencastle City, Greencastle Township, and Madison Township, before the State Board of Tax Commissioners meets in the Putnam County Courthouse later this month.

The total property tax rate for those who live in Greencastle City has increased from $8.12 per $100 of assessed valuation in 1967 to a proposed $10.77 in 1968. Of this the county rate has risen from $1.17 to $1.56. Actually the increase might have been greater, but the old county school tax of $2.25 has now become part of the general (school) fund rate. This change in procedure has no effect on the overall tax rate. If we remove the school tax rates from the city and library totals, we find the city rate has increased from $2.50 to $2.93, with the parks, the cemetery, and the airport receiving the largest percentage increases. The League has not studied nor is it prepared to discuss these changes.

We have, however, examined the school budget closely, compared it item by item with last year's budget, noted the increases and some decreases, and feel that the proposed raise in the school tax rate is not only desirable but essential. Unfortunately the $1.85 increase will cover only inflationary increases, additional state requirements for expenditure, and expenses of building improvements like the addition to the high school. Very little of it will provide new services.

As the cost of educating a child in the Greencastle schools has risen ($62 increase in the past two years for an elementary child; $103 for a secondary student), the state has raised its aid very little ($15 per child). Indeed the state has been unable to afford widespread increases in school aid. The last legislature set up a committee to study the state system of taxation, hoping to make more state funds available to local schools in 1969. Meanwhile, the local systems must take the burden of increased finance upon themselves. Sometimes these increases are state initiated like the summer recreation and the minimum teachers' salary bills, which designated higher salaries but gave the local systems no additional funds with which to pay these salaries. The greatest single increase in the Greencastle Schools budget is the $188,000 for instruction, which includes teachers' salaries.

The Greencastle Community Schools have budgeted very closely in the past and have not provided an operating balance. This policy has necessitated short term loans whenever emergencies arose; thus the school district has ended up paying not only principal but

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN "A" FOR imagination goes to the Columbus, Ohio, kid who was caught digging a big hole in his mother's prize garden. "What are you doing there?" cried the horrified mother. The kid answered, "I'm letting some of the dark out of the ground!"

Abercrombie's new wife was a dream girl in every respect save one: when she lost her temper she would bowl him out for a full ten minutes, blaming him for everything from the Black Hole of Calcutta to the Israeli-Arab confrontation. What made all this particularly embarrassing to poor Abercrombie was that the walls of their new apartment were paper-thin and he just knew that neighbors on either side were enjoying her harangues enormously. One evening, goaded to desperation, he found the way to shut her up. She had just reached the top of her form, screaming like a banshee, when Abercrombie clapped a hand across her mouth and shouted at the top of his lungs, "If you don't shut up IMMEDIATELY, I swear I'll never marry you."

She's been meek and quiet as a turtle dove ever since—at least, in the apartment.

Famed symphony conductor Leopold Stokowski points out, "A painter paints his pictures on canvas—but musicians paint their pictures on silence. Our orchestras provide the music. See that you concert-goers provide the silence!"

NEW YORK UPI — Hornblower & Weeks Hemphill, Noys says investors should derive reassurance from the "orderly fashion" in which the stock market has moved ahead — brisk advances followed by periods of consolidation. The analyst says such behavior encourages expectation of a further gradual recovery, possibly foreshadowing an attempt to surpass the early 1966 highs.

E. F. Hutton & Co. notes that declines are short-lived on the stock market despite the weakening technical background. Still, the analyst says, this weakness cannot be disregarded, so it recommends a less aggressive market approach with some increase in buying reserves.

Goodbody & Co. says much of the present strength of the market can be attributed to a relatively few investment-grade issues. It voices the belief that the current movement of the Dow Jones Industrial Index will be contained within the 940-960 area, followed by a more extended period of backing and filling.

On the farm front

(By LARRY D. HATFIELD)
WASHINGTON UPI — The number of farmers in the United States will decline by nearly a million in the next 13 years, according to a study just released by a blue-ribbon presidential advisory panel.

And, according to the National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber, the farm sizes will increase substantially and many part-time farmers will move to other occupational areas.

The report, which is the first volume in a series of technical reports on the status of agriculture, predicts in the United States will decline from 3.2 million in 1964 to 2.2 million in 1980, a decrease of nearly one-third.

Some regions of the country will show bigger declines than others, the report indicates. Various forces, including technical changes in farming and transportation as well as the relocation of production, account for the differences. Relatively large declines in farm numbers are indicated for the southeast and delta regions as cotton acreage is reduced, livestock enterprises are increased and farms become more diversified and mechanized.

The commission said that the regions showing the least change include the Great Lake states, corn belt, northern Plains, mountain and Pacific areas. These regions will show about a 25 per cent decrease in total farm numbers, the report predicted, while the southeast, delta and Appalachian states show a decline of more than 30 per cent and the Northeast decreases more than 44 per cent.

The commission said the drops in farm numbers have broad social implications for the rural areas of the country, because there will be less money and fewer people to support such things as schools and churches.

Soil moisture improves over parts of state

LAFAYETTE, Ind. UPI — Soil moisture conditions improved in Indiana last week, but deficiencies continued to plague certain areas, particularly in the state's central portion.

"Topsoil moisture reached a rating of short to mostly adequate, the highest rating since the last of August," according to the weekly report of agricultural statistician Robert E. Straszheim of Purdue. "Subsoil moisture increased slightly to a mostly short to adequate rating."

Pastures improved but still were rated poor to fair.

The report said more than half the corn crop is now considered mature and 95 per cent is in or past the dent stage.

"Except for scattered fields, harvest has yet to begin," Straszheim said. "Usual progress is five per cent of the crop harvested by this time."

"Soybean harvest gathered a little moisture and 20 per cent of the crop is combined.

This is well behind the 35 per cent for average but ahead of the 15 per cent harvested a year earlier.

"Seeding of small grains continues well behind average. Only 20 per cent of the winter wheat has been seeded compared to 295 per cent last year and 35 per cent for average. About 40 per cent of the rye and 35 per cent of the barley has been sown compared to a usual rate of 55 per cent for both crops."

DePauw, Ball State share early lead in ICC race

Amos VanPelt and his Ball State teammates are taking up in the Indiana Collegiate Conference where they left off last year—at the top.

The whirlwind dervish of a back is making good headway defending rushing and scoring crowns he claimed last year as a sophomore.

And his squad, as expected, has shot off to a co-lead in the ICC, sharing the top with not-so-expected DePauw at 2-0.

The ICC statistics, released for the first time this week, place the Fort Wayne back at the head of the list in rushing with 261 yards in 30 carries. That's a husky 8.7 average.

Right behind VanPelt in rushing is his teammate Dick Lester (173 yards) and DePauw sophomore John Long, 161 yards.

Last year VanPelt won the scoring crown with 34 points, but he already has 22 in State's two lopsided victories. Mike Harrison from Butler and John Ondrejka, Ball State, are deadlocked in second with 18 each.

Valparaiso quarterback Jon Dimitri is this week's pace setter in total offense. The lithe flipper has 276 yards in 57 plays, 15 yards ahead of VanPelt in this department and 30 ahead of DePauw's third place Eric Lortz.

Dimitri holds down another honor as the league's most prolific passer. He has a 236 to 212 edge on Butler's Dick Reed. Reed possesses the best completion mark in the league at .571 (16-28).

Milt Payton of winless St. Joseph's and Butler's Harrison are waging a tight duel for passing honors. Payton has 10 for 54 yards. Harrison has one less but for 91 and a pair of TD's.

The NCAA's two-year-old re-interpretation on punting yardage has souped up measurements in that department. The kicker now gets the benefit of the 20 yards that used to be subtracted from punts that sailed into the end zone. Consequently three ICC kickers are operating at a 40-yard plus level, paced by Evansville's Greg Hofmann (48.0) and Indiana State's Dean Klink (44.0) averages.

St. Joseph's George Badke and Paul Kissner and Butler's Jim Craver are up front on three new statistical departments covered this year. Badke and Kissner have the most yards on kickoff (220 yards) and punts (87) returns, respectively, and Craver leads the loop in interceptions (2).

Ball State, which has ground out 39-7 and 31-10 verdicts over Valpo and Evansville, has understandably racked up some yardage in the process. The Cardinals lead the league in total offense averages with 385.5 yards per game and rushing averages with 320.5.

DePauw is currently pacing the league in team defense and is third in both total offense (309.0) and rushing offense (185.5). The Tigers, in 27-0 and 19-8 wins over St. Joe and Valpo, have allowed their two opponents an average of 219.0 per game. Indiana State, having played only Butler, is second in defense with a 226.0 reading.

Evansville and Butler are neck and neck in the passing game. The Aces picked up 193 yards in their single encounter. Butler, 1-1, has averaged 182.0 in splitting games with Indiana State (7-23) and St. Joe (27-2).

The scramble for the ICC crown held the past two years by Ball State could unsport itself somewhat this weekend. While 2-0 Ball State is away trying to figure out just how tough Northern Illinois is, 1-0 Indiana State will be testing St. Joseph's at Rensselaer, and 2-0 DePauw will be a Dads' Day guest at 0-1 Evansville.

Characteristically one of the dandiest battles is the Valparaiso-Butler game that will be staged as a homecoming piece de resistance in Valparaiso.

Attendance for the first two rounds (six games) on the ICC schedule averaged slightly over 5,300. Indiana State, playing outside the league with Northern Illinois, probably established an all-time mark by an ICC team by helping to draw 18,000 at DeKalb last weekend.

Richmond picked by UPI as state's top prep team

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Richmond's Red Devils, who have yielded just one touchdown in rolling over five opponents, today became No. 1 in the UPI Indiana high school football coaches' board ratings.

Coach Hub Etchison's Wayne County eleven, taking over the top spot for the first time since the late 1950s, polled 6 of 10 first-place votes from the panel of experts to replace South Bend Washington at the head of the class.

The South Benders, who led the elite through the first two weeks of the popularity poll, slipped to the runnerup spot after being held to a 12-12 deadlock by little-regarded Mishawaka last Friday.

Balloting was for games through last Saturday.

Unbeaten Evansville Reitz and Bloomington and once-tied state champ Indianapolis Washington clung to last week's positions in third, fifth and sixth, respectively, but the other berths had new occupants.

North Central of Marion County and Jeffersonville crashed the "Big 10" for the first time.

Richmond polled 91 votes, just nine short of a perfect score, and the South Benders in second place totaled 72. Reitz got 66 for third-place honors.

North Central, with a 20-game unbeaten string, was promoted from 13th place to seventh and Jeffersonville, which goes against Bloomington in a battle of perfect-record clubs Saturday, was elevated from a tie for 15th to 10th.

Gary Froebel and Vincennes also slipped, despite going into this week's warfare with perfect records. Froebel was dropped from eighth to ninth and Vincennes from 10th to 11th.

South Bend Adams, fourth last week before being upended by city foe Central, was voted out of the top 20.

East Chicago Roosevelt, tied for sixth last week, was pushed up to fourth after winning its third game in a row and city foe Washington from ninth to eighth.

The breakdown, with first places and total points:

1. Richmond	91
2. SB Washington	72
3. Evansville Reitz	66
4. E.C. Roosevelt	49
5. Bloomington	43
6. Indianapolis Wash.	32
7. North Central	30

Cub Harriers beat Plainfield

Greencastle's harriers hosted and beat Plainfield in their seventh cross country victory of the season Tuesday evening by placing four men in the top ten runners.

The meet, held on the two mile course at Robe Ann Park, was the seventh win for the Cub Harriers against five defeats.

Tiger Cub Don Dowty led the pack around the grass course in 10:55. He was followed by teammates Heckle in third, Mount in fourth, Cook in eighth, and Gray in eleventh place. Mount bettered his best time of the season by more than twenty seconds to capture the fourth place spot.

Stockdon was the lead runner for Plainfield finishing second with an 11:00 clocking. Greencastle will tangle with Rockville Thursday.

35,000 Boston fans watch Series opener

BOSTON UPI — More than 35,000 supposedly prim and proper Boston fans who refuse to believe midnight can strike for their "Cinderella team" were expected to watch the opening game of the World Series today between the Boston Red Sox and the favored St. Louis Cardinals.

Bob Gibson, a strapping right-hander making a comeback from a broken leg, was slated to pitch for the Cards and pennant-drive hero Jose Santiago for the Sox in the Fenway Park clash starting at 1 p. m. EDT.

Despite a forecast of rain-showers in the late afternoon, cloudy skies and temperatures in the 70's were expected at game time.

The Cards, on the basis of over-all team balance, were favored at 6-5 to win the opening game and at 3-2 to win the championship in baseball's 64th annual fall classic.

But those odds meant nothing to Bostonians, who have tossed their staid reputation out the window in g-a-ga delirium over the Sox' triumph in an American League pennant race that wasn't settled until the last pitch of the last game on Sunday.

"Go, go Sox," signs and banners were plastered all over the "hub city." It's Boston's first World Series since 1918 and local fans don't like to be reminded that the Sox also faced the Cardinals in that classic and lost, four games to three.

Right-hander Santiago, with a record of 12 wins and four defeats, got the call to hurl the

Namath has his finest hour

NEW YORK UPI—Joe Namath had his finest hour in the American Football League Sunday and it reverberated through the AFL statistics today.

Namath gained 415 yards passing in the New York Jets' 29-7 victory over the Miami Dolphins, his best in three years of pro football, to take over the passing lead. The total was 49 short of George Blanda's league mark and gave every indication the Jets' man with the golden arm may surpass the record before the season ends.

Namath's three-game figure stood at 967 yards gained on 56 completions in 99 attempts. He was tied with Babe Parilli of Boston for the most touchdowns passes at seven.

Emerson Boozar grabbed two of Namath's three TD throws against Miami, which raised his scoring total to 36 points, 11 better than Blanda's Oakland.

George Sauer, another of Namath's favorite receivers, tied for second place with last week's leader Art Graham at 18. Hewitt Dixon of the Oakland Raiders led with 20 catches.

Jim Nance of Boston retained the lead in rushing as he goes after another ground gaining title. Jolting Jim has picked up 367 yards in 84 attempts for a 4.4 average.

Bob Scarpito of Denver kept his punting lead with a 47.3 average, but other key departments changed leadership or had ties.

Rookie Larry Carwell of Houston was first in punt returns with a 21.7 average, rookie Noland Smith of Kansas City topped the field in kickoff returns with a 28.4 yard mark and Goldie Sellers deadlocked Denver teammate Lonnie Wright with four interceptions.

Big Ten not losing class

COLUMBUS, Ohio UPI — Has there been any decline in the class of football played by Big Ten schools? Not really say two of the nation's leading coaches.

Big Ten schools lost seven of 10 games to out-of-conference opponents Saturday. And some were real shockers. Arizona stunned highly touted Ohio State, 14-7, and Arizona State routed Wisconsin, 42-16.

It wasn't too many years ago that the Big Ten was easily the top conference in the nation.

Not any more. "There's no doubt that other conferences are catching up with the Big Ten," said Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame. Purdue, a Big Ten team, saved face for the conference Saturday by stunning the Fighting Irish, 28-21.

"It's not so much that the Big Ten has declined," Parseghian said, "but there has been a talent explosion in high school football in this country and other schools are getting their fair share."

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of the University of Alabama agreed with Parseghian.

"All conferences have some top teams and they would be fairly well matched if they played each other," he said.

opener for Boston only because 22-game winner Jim Lonborg pitched the pennant-clinching game on Sunday and isn't fully rested.

The 27-year old Santiago, however, was the big winner for Boston in the closing days of the season—he was credited with four of the Sox' last eight victories.

Deeply proud of the fact he's the first Puerto Rican to be the starting pitcher in an opening series game, Santiago called the assignment "the greatest honor of my life." His family arrived from Puerto Rico Tuesday night and was on hand to watch his big moment.

Gibson, 31, is a veteran World Series hero. He notched two triumphs in the 1964 series against the New York Yankees, including a 7-5 victory in the deciding seventh game.

TRY TRADING

ATLANTA UPI—The Atlanta Falcons, who haven't won a game this season, went trading Tuesday and came up with former Alabama star Ray Ogden.

The Falcons traded fullback Ernie Wheelwright to the New Orleans Saints for Ogden, and put veteran flanker Alex Hawkins on waivers.

The departure of Wheelwright and Hawkins left the Falcons with only 17 of the 42 men they drafted from the National Football League pool in January 1966.

Backstairs at the White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON UPI — Backstairs at the Whitehouse:

Austin, Tex., friends of President Johnson and his family are talking about the interesting career of a Secret Service agent stationed in the Texas Capital.

This agent is one of several assigned to protect the President's daughter, Luci Nugent, and her baby, Lyn. Luci's husband Patrick, a rugged young man, is quite capable of protecting his own brood but Washington experts feel the job is one for trained men.

In any event, Luci recently has been going to one of the better beauty salons of Austin for an exercise and conditioning course. To the casual observer, the pretty young mother has a very trim figure, but like so many ladies after the maternity ward, she feels the need of physical conditioning.

This in itself is hardly newsworthy, but there's more to it. One of the agents has to go with Mrs. Newgent to the salon which is on the top floor of an Austin department store. He cannot be of much protection standing outside in the hall, so the agent, according to family friends, has to go inside the salon and take a chair as unobtrusively as possible while Luci goes through the steam room, massage table and whatever ladies do in these places to become lithe and radiant.

Luci's course should be about over, much to the relief of the agent for he could find himself horribly involved—and in all innocence.

Suppose this agent in his junior executive three-button suit was sitting inside the place, minding his own business and trying very hard to keep his mind on the ceiling. Suddenly a very elegant, if somewhat plump matron sweeps through the door and spots him.

"Ah, there you are, Mr. Francois."

He starts to rise, but she protests.

"You sit right there, you poor dear, because I know you must be exhausted, wrestling and the girls around all day."

"Ma'm there's been —" "Shush, you naughty Francois, I don't want to hear a word. I want to talk about my figure. Honestly, Francois, my dresses must be shrinking.

You've got to do something. Can you possibly take 10 pounds off of me before the Opera Ball?"

By this time, the agent is terrified and virtually leaps from his chair. His coat flies open and the lady sees on his belt a snugly holstered .38 revolver.

"You manly thing, you" she coos, "watching over us girls..."

But by this time, he has fled wildly toward the elevator, sobbing for help into his radio.

Wilson promises Britons better economic future

SCARBOROUGH, England UPI — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today promised Britons a strong economy both at home and abroad, firmly based expansion, rising employment and social justice.

He flatly rejected the use of a pool of unemployed workers as a weapon of government economic policy and said today's jobless figure of 555,000 was too high.

But he warned there can be no swift relaxation of the Labor government's tough economic controls.

Wilson delivered a spirited one hour, 10 minute defense of his government's record in three years in office to the 66th annual conference of his governing Labor Party. It was his first and only scheduled speech to the conference in which his government's record and policies have come under heavy fire from rank and file rebels.

Wilson's speech was mainly a detailed defense of his government's achievements in the economic and social fields, coupled with scathing attacks on the conservative opposition. He won a one-minute standing ovation at the end from the 1,200 delegates.

Wilson did not mention Vietnam, the Common Market or other foreign policy issues.

After Wilson's speech, the conference was to debate a resolution calling for the government to disassociate Britain from U.S. policy in Vietnam.

By DICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD UPI — With the World Series between Boston and St. Louis getting under way today on NBC-TV, here's how it shapes up to a television-oriented viewer:

"Good Morning World": the series begins.
"Family Affair": the size of the Boston ball park.
"Batman": Carl Yastrzemski.
"Tarzan": Orlando Cepeda.
"Run for Your Life": Eddie Stanky gives an interview on why his Chicago White Sox didn't win the pennant.
"Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea": a pitcher throws a spitball.

"Lost in Space": Mike Shannon tries to catch a fly ball.
"Ironside": Elston Howard.
"Gunsmoke": Eddie Stanky gives an interview on why his Chicago White Sox didn't win the pennant.

"Green Acres": a ball gets through an outfielder, and that's what he sees.
"Bonanza": the front offices of both teams know who the real winners are.
"Get Smart": a St. Louis pitcher walks Yastrzemski intentionally four times with the bases empty.
"I Spy": a third-base coach steals Bib Gibson's signs, and he only strikes out a dozen a game.
"The Second Hundred Years": a pitcher takes his time between pitches.

"The Rat Patrol": Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris police the St. Louis outfield and give hitters inferiority complexes.
"The Man From U.N.C.L.E.": Jim Lonnberg.
"Custer": Eddie Stanky somehow fits in here.
"Bewitched": Mike Shannon tries to catch another fly ball.
"The Lawrence Welk Show": it doesn't really belong here, but then some people feel it doesn't belong anywhere.
"Mission: Impossible": commentator Pee Wee Reese tries to spell Yastrzemski.
"Off to See the Wizard": Any one for Eddie Stanky?
"The Ed Sullivan Show": no matter who wins, that's where they'll wind up.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI—Moody's Investors Service said that while stock prices should move higher, the market may face increased pressure and greater irregularity in the coming weeks. The analyst, however, says that on the near term internal divergences are likely to be more important than the general market trend.

E. F. Hutton & Co. says the bulk of trading interest remains on the buy side and the weak issues seem to be so more from a lack of buying than selling pressure. The company says that if the market's recent action is any indication, it is "beginning to look as if the bears may" on the verge of forfeiting another opportunity.

The Dines Letter says the stock market is now "in a binge" quite comparable to early 1961 and late 1965, and says that a "severe shakeout" will follow. The adviser says the broad outlook for computer, electronic, optics and nuclear energy stocks is "astronomically higher" and suggests that investors regard the next shakeout as "another splendid opportunity to accumulate selected glamor shares."

Hornblower & Weeks Hemphill, Noyes is of the opinion the bulls hold the upper hand in the stock market, with investors and speculators preferring to hold common stocks rather than debt securities. The company says that in view of this condition, it suggests "a great deal of caution and adherence to fundamental yardsticks of quality and value" when buying common stock.

GREENCASLE GIRL SCOUTS—Girl Scouts learn many things and go many places, but not without the help of women like Mrs. Robert Weiss, 705 Vale Street, who has

Girl Scouts need adult volunteers

Ever since Eve women have been figures of influence. On a throne, behind a throne, in a covered wagon, or in a home—women have been significant in shaping the world.

It has been said: "Educate a boy, and you educate a person. Educate a girl, and you educate a family." Yes, women not only bear the children—they train and educate them. Like mother, like daughter, is not just glib phrase. And if this has been true ever since Eve, it's dramatically so in our times. It will take all the traditional gentleness and understanding of women to train our daughters today for a better tomorrow.

And that's where the Girl Scouts of America come in. There are about 14½ million girls from seven through seventeen in our country, and out of nine of them is a Girl Scout. That's a lot of girls, but it's not enough for the influential reach necessary to help shape the world of tomorrow. Right now there are thousands of girls in our nation and many in our own community of Greencastle waiting for the chance to be Girl Scouts.

That's where you come in. As an individual mothers or interested women can act as consultants to troops on the special skills of their work or hobby, provide transportation to an form meetings and camps, arrange for Senior Girl Scouts to get experience in your office, laboratory, store, school, or hospital, encourage friends and husbands to volunteer for work as assistants to leaders, or volunteer to be a troop leader or a troop committee member yourself.

Girl Scouting encourages community service. Girls learn how to develop their talents and skills in order to give useful help. It's a two-way street—while you are helping Girl Scouts they are learning to help you. If interested and you can assist in any of these ways contact Mrs. C. R. Dyer at OL 3-9409. Take a part in the future, help yourself by helping the Girl Scouts.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI — The Alexander Hamilton Institute says it expects the present favorable market climate to continue, subject to the occasional "welcome shakeout."

These dips, the analyst says, provide buying opportunities for the serious investor while helping curb certain speculative appetites.

C. B. Richards, Ellis & Co., says it believes the market is in a strong uptrend although hit by "minor dips" from time to time. It says such dips should be utilized to make selective purchases since the market is headed "into new all-time high territory."

— League looks

also interest. Such a case arose last year when, through a misunderstanding, the State Board of Tax Commissioners cut the school tax rate by $.53 per $100 of assessed valuation, resulting in this year's low tax rate. The error was not discovered until the tax statements were ready for mailing so it was too late to rectify the situation. Thus some of the expense incurred this fiscal year must fall on next year's tax rate.

The major new expenditure in 1968 will be the first payment on the high school addition, amounting to about $105,000. Whenever the system adds to existing buildings or constructs new ones, custodial staffs must increase, insurance payments rise, and utility bills go up. Thus the system must pay not only for construction materials and work but also for the upkeep and operation of such additions.

As inflation greets the housewife at the grocery store and in the repair shop, so too does it reach the schools. In the current year, Congress voted social security increases, and retirement fund payments have gone up. Manufacturers of school supplies, utility companies, insurance firms, and many other businesses have increased their charges. In 1967, the local system paid $8,000 for insurance coverage; in 1968, the charge will be $12,000. The School Board had budgeted $6,000 for 1967 social security payments; by July 31, 1967, they had already spent $6,186 with the rest of the year's payments still to be made. At the same time they budgeted $16,200 for the year's electricity bill; by July they had spent $14,200 with a half year left. Shorted by last year's tax cut, the Board must seek some alternative to deal with increases in charges. The alternative is generally to borrow against future taxes. To skip now means to pay principal plus interest in the future.

At a time when our school enrollment has increased and Greencastle's total assessed valuation decreased and when school systems across the nation are seeking to expand their offerings and services, the Greencastle Community Schools system, like many other small systems, is struggling to maintain what it has. Hopefully the state legislature will find some way to relieve the property tax payer of some of his burden; but until it does we shall either support the local school budget or cheat our children.

For Free
NEW YORK (UPI) — A new guidebook lists about 2,500 tours and other sightseeing attractions: adults and children can enjoy for free in all 50 of the United States.

"See America Free" by Solie Ann Robbins (1) tells where, how and when you can tour a candy factory, ride a camel, take a cruise, drink champagne, or trigger your own atomic explosion without spending a cent.

Cave Attraction
ST. CHARLES, Idaho (UPI) — For tourists and vacationers traveling through southern Idaho this summer, a good place to stop is Minnetonka Cave, nine miles west of St. Charles. Guided tours through the one-half mile long cavern are conducted by the Forest Service seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pest of the Week

Horticultural tip

Iron is an essential element for plant growth. Where the amount of iron available to plants does not meet their minimum needs, the plant falls into a diseased condition called iron chlorosis. This condition is characterized by blanching or yellowing of the leaves. This change in the appearance of the leaves is due to failure of chlorophyll (green coloring matter) to develop normally. Mildly affected plants become unsightly and grow poorly. Severely affected plants fail to grow, flower or fruit.

Very severely affected plants die from lack of iron. In mild cases leaf veins remain dark green while the tissues between the veins become light green. In advanced cases this tissue becomes progressively lighter, then yellow. Plants typically afected include bur, pin and white oak; spruce, sweet gum, sycamore, mock orange, firethorn, rhododendrons, azaleas and others.

CONTROL: Use either iron (ferrous) sulfate (add equal parts of sulfur) or iron chelate (sequestrene). Make soil applications in early spring and foliar treatments during the growing season.
